

I writing to keep the ban on telephone soliciting. After a day of working and then coming home, the last thing I want is to be pressured into doing or buying something. They are really good at calling during supper or while I'm trying to spend quality time with my family. If I'm interested in buying a product or service, I'll purchase them outside of the home.